

Complaints Handling Policy

4. Centre for Professional Learning – Registered RTO

This range and diversity of services and functions brings Communities at Work, its employees, volunteers and contractors into contact with large sections of the ACT community. Despite intentions and aspirations of excellence in practice, customer service and service delivery, it is inevitable that programs of Communities at Work will from time to time receive complaints from individuals within the community.

This policy supports the National Quality Framework, Standards for RTOs 2015, National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS) (Complaints Management and Resolution) Rules 2018, Aged Care Quality Standards – Standard 6, Education Act 2004, and was developed in accordance with AS 10002:2022 and provides a compliance point of reference for the reader.

Authorisation

This policy shall be endorsed and issued under the authority of the Chief Executive Officer (CEO).

Policy

Guiding Principles

Our complaint handling system is modelled on the principles of fairness, accessibility, responsiveness, open disclosure, efficiency and integration into organisational culture.

Enabling Complaints

People focus:

This policy is people focused, including children and young people, which means that our children, young people, clients, staff, management, families / carers, and the wider community can be confident that complaints are taken seriously and addressed effectively and fairly.

We are committed to seeking and receiving feedback and complaints about our services, systems, practices, procedures, products and complaint handling. Our processes to respond to complaints are people/child/young people focused.

Any concerns raised in feedback or complaints will be dealt with within a reasonable time frame (as in AS/NZ 10002).

People making complaints will be:

- provided with information about our complaint handling process and how to access it
- listened to, treated with respect by employees/volunteers/contractors and actively involved in the complaint process where possible and appropriate, and
- provided with reasons for our decision/s and any options for redress or review.

People who are the subject of the complaint will also be treated with respect and be informed of the complaint management progress.

No detriment to people making complaints:

We provide a supportive environment where people, including clients, staff, contractors, volunteers, management, families / carers, should feel safe to make a complaint.

Complainants have the right to be without fear of judgment, punishment or service diminution as a consequence of lodging a complaint. We will take all reasonable steps to ensure that people making complaints are not adversely affected because a complaint has been made by them or on their behalf.

Anonymous complaints:

We accept anonymous complaints if there is a compelling reason to do so and will carry out a confidential investigation of the issues raised where there is enough information provided. Whilst action may be taken dependent on the investigation, anonymous complaints will not be provided with a response.

Accessibility:

We will ensure that information about how and where complaints may be made to or about us is well publicised on our website and in our service locations. We will ensure that our systems to manage complaints are easily understood and accessible to everyone, particularly people who may require assistance (e.g. translation services), including children and young people, in formats appropriate for the audience.

If a person prefers or needs another person or organisation to assist or represent them in the making and/ or resolution of their complaint, we will communicate with them through their representative if this is requested and authority is provided or determined. Anyone may represent a person wishing to make a complaint with their consent (e.g. advocate, family member, legal or community representative, member of Parliament, another organisation).

No charges:

A complainant will not be charged a fee to complain.

Guiding principles:

In managing its complaints, Communities at Work will ensure the principles of natural justice and procedural fairness are met in the process of addressing the complaint.

Managing Complaints

Early resolution:

Where possible, complaints will be resolved at first contact with us.

When appropriate we may offer an explanation or apology to the person making the complaint.

Responsiveness:

All complaints received will be recorded and tracked via the Complaints Management System.

We will promptly acknowledge receipt of complaints.

We will assess and prioritise complaints in accordance with the urgency and/or seriousness of the issues raised. If a matter concerns an immediate risk to safety or security the response will be immediate and will be escalated appropriately.

We are committed to managing people’s expectations, and will inform them as soon as possible, of the following:

- the complaints process;
- the expected time frames for our actions;
- the progress of the complaint and reasons for any delay;
- their likely involvement in the process; and
- the possible or likely outcome of their complaint, if appropriate to do so.

We will advise people as soon as possible when we are unable to deal with any part of their complaint and provide advice about where such issues and/or complaints may be directed (if known and appropriate).

We will also advise people as soon as possible when we are unable to meet our time frames for responding to their complaint and the reason for our delay.

Where Communities at Work considers more than 60 calendar days are required to process and finalise the complaint or appeal, Communities at Work:

- a) informs the complainant or appellant in writing, including reasons why more than 60 calendar days are required; and
- b) regularly updates the complainant or appellant on the progress of the matter.

Objectivity and fairness:

We will address each complaint with integrity and in an equitable, objective and unbiased manner.

We will ensure that the person handling a complaint is different from any employee/volunteer member whose conduct or service is being complained about.

Conflicts of interest, whether actual or perceived, will be managed responsibly. In particular, internal reviews of how a complaint was managed will be conducted by a person other than the original decision maker.

Complaints about employees/volunteers:

If a complaint involves allegations about a member of the Communities at Work workforce including employees, volunteers or contractors:

- The complaint will be acknowledged and referred to the appropriate area of Communities at Work for action. Several options will be considered depending on the nature of the complaint;
- Primary consideration will be given to ensuring compliance with the current Communities at Work Enterprise Agreement arrangements relating to management of employee misconduct complaints and application of relevant disciplinary procedures;
- Communities at Work will investigate the complaint in accordance with the principles of natural justice and procedural fairness and in a manner that promotes the values of Communities at Work;
- Any other issues identified in the complaint will be considered separately from the employee/contractor or volunteer complaint and a response about those issues will be provided within the required timeframe;
- It is possible that the complainant may be contacted and asked to provide additional information by an investigator appointed by Communities at Work;
- In recognition of privacy requirements, it may not be possible to advise the person making the complaint of the specific outcome of the complaint about the employee, contractor or volunteer; and
- Communities at Work employees/contractors/volunteers implicated/named in complaints have the right to respond to allegations made against them and be notified of the outcome of the complaint.

Complaints made by children and young people:

Children and young people have a right to make a complaint on their own behalf if able or have someone else raise the complaint on their behalf. Children and young people are to be treated with respect and listened to without judgement.

Communities at Work prioritises child safety. This means we identify any risks to children and young people arising from a complaint and act quickly to manage them.

Special considerations apply to serious complaints made by children or young people, or someone acting on their behalf. When a complaint is made by a child or young person, or their delegate, that discloses or provides information or there are observations indicating reasonable grounds to suspect that the child or young person is at risk of abuse, including physical abuse, sexual abuse, emotional abuse, family violence and/or neglect, additional reporting to the relevant Child Protection Agency is required. The context of the complaint may also require reporting under the Reportable Conduct Scheme and /or meet the criteria of Regulatory reporting.

In order to respond effectively to complaints by children and young people, two perspectives will be considered in the complaints process:

- ‘Child’s Voice’ (the individual child or young person’s right to exercise choice and make a complaint); and
- ‘Best interests’ (the baseline requirements believed to be necessary to secure a child’s or young person’s welfare and safety).

Responses provided to the child and/or young person regarding the management of a complaint and any outcomes will be presented in a way that meets their individual needs. A culturally safe environment is provided for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander children and young people and their families, as well as people from culturally diverse backgrounds.

If the complaint alleges that a child is exhibiting harmful sexual behaviours or is about children’s safety and wellbeing including sexual behaviour Communities at work will utilise the Sexual Behaviour in Children & Young People: A Guide to identify, understand and respond to sexual behaviours as a framework for investigation and reporting of the complaint.

Complaints made by other vulnerable people:

Vulnerable complainants will be provided with additional assistance if required.

Responding flexibly:

Our employees are empowered to resolve complaints promptly and with as little formality as possible where appropriate. We will adopt flexible approaches to service delivery and problem solving to enhance accessibility for people making complaints and/or their representatives.

We will assess each complaint on its merits and involve people making complaints and/or their representative in the process as far as possible.

Confidentiality:

We will protect the identity of people making complaints where this is practical and appropriate. At times, the identity of the complainant may need to be disclosed for investigation purposes and to ensure that appropriate responses can be provided.

Personal information that identifies individuals will only be disclosed or used by us as permitted under the relevant privacy laws, secrecy provisions and any relevant confidentiality obligations.

Manage the parties to a complaint

Complaints involving multiple agencies:

Where a complaint involves multiple organisations, we will work with the other organisation/s where possible, to ensure that communication with the person making a complaint and/or their representative is clear and coordinated.

Subject to privacy and confidentiality considerations, communication and information sharing between the parties will also be organised to facilitate a timely response to the complaint.

Where a complaint involves multiple areas within our organisation, responsibility for communicating with the person making the complaint and/or their representative will also be coordinated.

Where our services are contracted out, we expect contracted service providers to have an accessible and comprehensive complaint management system. We take complaints not only about the actions of our employee/contractor/volunteer but also the actions of our service providers.

Empowerment of employees:

All employees managing complaints are empowered to implement our complaint management system as relevant to their role and responsibilities. For example, employees are encouraged to resolve straightforward matters in particular when receiving a verbal complaint, where possible.

Employees are encouraged to provide feedback on the effectiveness and efficiency of all aspects of our complaint management system.

Managing unreasonable conduct by people making complaints:

We are committed to being accessible and responsive to all people who approach us with feedback or complaints. At the same time our success depends on:

- our ability to do our work and perform our functions in the most effective and efficient way possible;
- the health, safety and security of our employees/contractors/volunteers/clients; and
- our ability to allocate our resources fairly across the complaints we receive.

When people behave unreasonably in their dealings with us, their conduct can significantly affect the progress and efficiency of our work. As a result, we will take proactive and decisive action to manage any conduct that negatively and unreasonably affects us and will support our employees/contractors/volunteers to do the same in accordance with this policy.

Unreasonable conduct includes:

- Unreasonable persistence – This includes refusal to accept a final decision and persisting with issues despite advice they have been fully considered and no further action will be taken;
- Unreasonable demands – This includes insisting outcomes that are unattainable, demanding documents that provisioning would breach the privacy of others, changing the objectives of the process or demanding to have a matter dealt with in a particular way;
- Unreasonable lack of cooperation – This includes providing disorganised, excessive or irrelevant information, an unwillingness to consider other viewpoints, or a refusal to define issues of concern;
- Unreasonable arguments – This includes irrational cause and effect arguments, holding conspiracy theories unsupported by evidence or illogically interpreting facts or laws; and
- Unreasonable behaviour – This includes extreme anger, aggression, threats or other violent conduct.

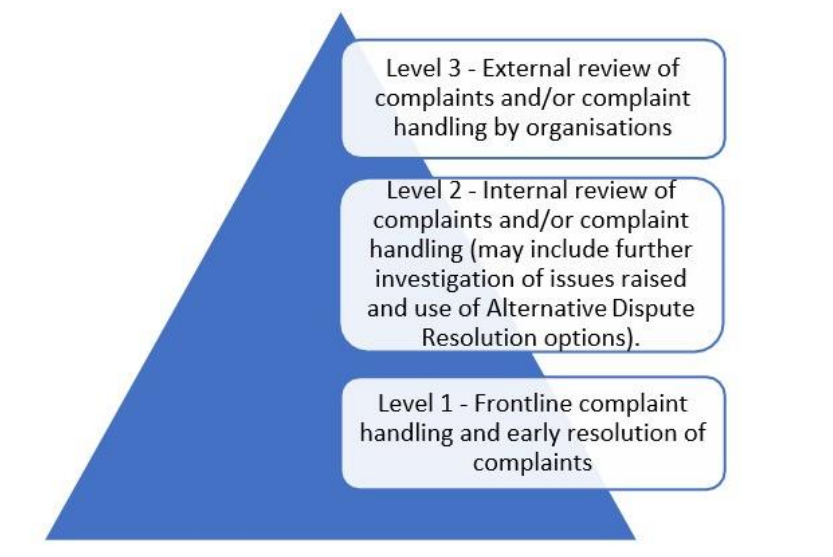

Alternative avenues for dealing with complaints:

We will inform people who make complaints to or about us about any internal or external review options available to them (including any relevant Ombudsman or oversight regulatory bodies).

The three levels of complaint handling

Level 1

We aim to resolve complaints at the first level, the frontline. Wherever possible employees will be adequately equipped to respond to complaints, including being given appropriate authority, training and supervision. Complaints about a single issue or concerns that are more straightforward can often be resolved on first contact by providing an explanation or an apology if required. Depending on the nature of the complaint and the relevant program area, reporting to regulatory authorities may be required.

Level 2

Where this is not possible, we may decide to escalate the complaint to a more senior officer within our organisation. This second level of complaint handling will provide for the following internal mechanisms:

- assessment and possible investigation of the complaint and decision/s already made; and/or
- facilitated resolution (where a person not connected with the complaint reviews the matter and attempts to find an outcome acceptable to the relevant parties).

Level 3

Where a person making a complaint is dissatisfied with the outcome of our review of their complaint, they may seek an external review of our decision.

In the event a complaint cannot be resolved to the satisfaction of the complainant, Communities at Work will provide the complainant with contact information for external complaints processes.

Accountability and learning

Training:

Our induction training includes information about our complaints handling policy and procedure, and how staff and volunteers depending on their role can fulfil their responsibilities effectively.

Analysis and evaluation of complaints:

We will ensure that complaints are recorded in a systematic way so that information can be easily retrieved for reporting and analysis by the Executive and the Board of Directors.

Regular analysis of these reports will be undertaken to monitor trends, measure the quality of our customer service and make improvements.

Both reports and their analysis will be provided to our CEO, senior management and to our Board of Directors for review, at least annually.

Monitoring of the complaint management system:

We will continually monitor our complaint management system to:

- ensure its effectiveness in responding to and resolving complaints;
- identify and correct deficiencies in the operation of the system; and
- monitoring may include the use of audits, complaint satisfaction surveys and online listening tools and alerts.

Continuous improvement:

We are committed to improving the way our organisation operates, including our management of the effectiveness and efficiency of our complaint management system. Our clients are integral to our services. We welcome their input into all aspects of our operations, including any complaints they may have. We welcome complaints as an opportunity to enhance the quality of our services. To this end, we will:

- support the making and appropriate resolution of complaints;
- implement best practices in complaint handling;
- recognise and reward exemplary complaint handling by employees;
- reflect on each complaint received, identifying any issues or areas of improvement;
- regularly review the complaint management system and complaint data; and
- implement appropriate system changes arising out of our analysis of complaints data and continual monitoring of the system.
